Impact

- The Development Management Service is one of the largest if not the largest planning authority in England in terms of applications handled and an efficient service provides the statutory planning function for the Council and facilitates development through the granting of permissions thus realising increase in council tax receipts, new homes bonus and increase in income for local businesses and the supply chain.
- The breadth and impact of the work of the Development Management service means there is a need for extensive engagement with statutory and non-statutory stakeholders, all service areas of the Council, elected representatives and the wider community. The planning system is designed to function in the public interest and thus has to deal with many competing demands to determine whether it is acceptable.
- The development management service is a key part of corporate project delivery where planning and other associated consents are required and manages the public conversation about aspects of corporate projects whilst considering planning proposals.
- There are numerous internal accountabilities through the Planning Committee structure and external accountabilities to the Courts, Ombudsman, Department for Levelling Up Homes and Communities (DLUHC), Planning Inspectorate, statutory stakeholders, elected representatives and the community and it is open to challenge through all these routes.
- The service registered 14,300 different types of application in a year (7,200 discharge of condition applications) in 2022/3 and on this measure is the largest local planning authority in England.
